Epilogue

In conclusion, early age is the most beautiful age to get married because they do still enjoy the beauty and strength and health of their body as young people and they must exploit this force and this health to enjoy in marriage, instead of later marriage, which accompanied with many of the diseases that may disturb their lives and it will affect their children health. Getting married and having family will allow them to feel and gain the responsibility in early time which it'll end up as helpful point in their life. Whatever the circumstance of life is difficult and arduous and tiring, marriage contributes to the resolution of these circumstances. Perhaps one of the reasons of good luck and having easier life start with marriage and I can said the marriage is the gate of luck and happiness.
